Casper Medical Imaging Joins Strategic Radiology®

New radiology group affiliation model enables progressive, independent radiology groups of all shapes and sizes to collaborate, share best practices, and drive clinical and economic efficiencies.

October 21, 2014— Strategic Radiology® (SR) announced today that Casper Medical Imaging (CMI) has elected to affiliate itself with the SR network of clinically advanced groups geographically dispersed throughout the US. Through this alignment, CMI will now have access to collective resources, best practices, group purchasing, patient safety, quality, subspecialized teleradiology pool, and much more.

“We’re extremely pleased to be a part of Strategic Radiology and look forward to working with our SR peers to benefit the patients, referring physicians, and hospital partner we serve in greater Casper Wyoming,” said Geoffrey Smith, MD, President of Casper Medical Imaging. “The opportunity to collaborate with like minded peer groups on issues relative to advancing the quality, patient safety, and operational efficiency of the services we all deliver is very exciting.”

“Casper Medical Imaging is a great addition to SR and represents a significant first step toward our goal of including independent radiology groups of all shapes and sizes as an integral part of our independent group practice collaborative,” said Arl Van Moore, Jr, MD, FACR, SR CEO. “We believe SR has much to offer to CMI, but perhaps more importantly, we also expect their team’s knowledge base and expertise will enhance the SR value for all member groups and the specialty of radiology.”
